Can you explain why so many tech tools we've looked at in class are using the .io domain rather than .com?

(...also, is it good practice to be buying the .io domain if we set up our own sites?)

On an iPad, we cannot run Youtube in the background while using another app at the same time.

Is it due to some kind of synchronous function or not at all?

In Silicon Valley Season 2 episode 1, the following claim was made in justification of a need for a powerful compression algorithm: "92% of the world's data was created in the last 2 years. At the current rate, the world's data storage capacity will be overtaken...and there will be nothing short of a catastrophe...prepare for data shortages and data rationing.."

Is there any kernel of truth to this? On the surface, it does seem that perhaps the rate of data storage is outpacing Moore's Law.

Will cs50.harvard.edu/mba be live after the course is over, or is there an easy way to save the notes/materials and assignments? It would be nice to have this stuff to refer back to in the future.
